I am a QA Engineer. I have a knowledge about software development life cycle and database design. I have experience working in a team. I pursue ongoing training and development to improve job knowledge. I always strive to learn new information about testing, easily find common language with new people(because i'm friendly, sociable, optimistic, reliable and also self-confident person), can concentrate on the tasks and complete them on time.Communicative, good team player. Responsible, motivated and goal-oriented.

Sergei successfully completed the course of functional testing: the process of planning and testing organizing (test plan and test strategy); methods of analysis and testing of requirements; test development methodology (checklists, test cases, test scenarios); algorithm of reporting on test results; the basics of automated testing; features of testing mobile devices; basics of databases and SQL; features of testing web-oriented applications. I have noticed that Sergei is organized person(didn't miss project deadlines) and healthy communicator. He has hard and soft skills to become a successful tester in your company.
